THE SPLENDOR OF PEACE

Outline

• Explains additional symbols about love from calculus and geometry.

• Argues that we can learn important lessons from man-made power-laws.

• Stresses that peace may be achieved in our lives via the Holy Spirit.

• Shows the $\alpha$ and the $\Omega$ in a relevant diagram from physics.

• Argues that accepting God’s invitation to conversion is always best.

• Stresses that the best time to say yes to Love is now.
• As mentioned before, Jesus summoned his disciples to be recognized by their love to one another (Jn 13:34-35) and their love for others, including even their enemies (Mt 5:44).

• This commandment may be translated into the language of calculus as “integration without differentiation.” (!)

• As there exists only one solution to this statement, i.e., the positive exponential function:

\int e^x \, dx = \frac{d}{dx} e^x = e^x

one wonders if this fact may provide additional symbols to express God’s Love.
By considering the famous words of Jesus to his early disciples regarding the vine and the branches, “I am the true vine, and my Father is the vine grower. He takes away every branch in me that does not bear fruit, and everyone that does he prunes so that it bears more fruit. You are already pruned because of the word that I spoke to you. Remain in me, as I remain in you. Just as a branch cannot bear fruit on its own unless it remains on the vine, so neither can you unless you remain in me. I am the vine, you are the branches. Whoever remains in me and I in him will bear much fruit, because without me you can do nothing. Anyone who does not remain in me will be thrown out like a branch and wither; people will gather them and throw them into a fire and they will be burned. If you remain in me and my words remain in you, ask for whatever you want and it will be done for you. By this is my Father glorified, that you bear much fruit and become my disciples. As the Father loves me, so I also love you. Remain in my love. If you keep my commandments, you will remain in my love, just as I have kept my Father’s commandments and remain in his love” (Jn 15:1-10), we may see that in surrendering to Christ we obtain, with Him, the ultimate power of Love. (!)

This lovely passage, closely related to other themes in this class, may be “translated” into mathematical symbols as follows:
• Jesus, the vine, may be expressed numerically saying that He is the 1, certainly the one and only who did not sin (1 Pt 2:22), the one who died for our transgressions (1 Pt 2:24), and also the only divine son of God (Jn 1:18). (!)

• His followers, by accepting Him and His cross of righteousness, and by choosing to be below Him, therefore become $1/x$. (!)

• As the process of “pruning” takes place, that is, as the positive increases in us, we see how Jesus disciples become holier and such takes them closer and closer to the desired condition of “abandonment,” as symbolized by the root of the Feigenbaum tree. (!)

• With this in hand, one may see geometrically the union of Jesus and his followers as $(1+1/x)$, and when such intimate relationship is compounded with the disciples’ increased power to ask for anything on His name, this yields the equation $(1 + 1/x)^x$.

• As in the limit when $x$ grows to infinity such a quantity gives precisely the exponential number $e$, it may be concluded that such symbolizes our ultimate gift of consciousness, i.e., the Holy Spirit, which empowers us to love everyone as God does. (!)

• For the Holy Spirit empowers us to cultivate righteousness in peace (Jas 3:18) in a brotherhood and sisterhood of love (Mt 12:50) that transcends all differences. (!)
• The exponential function in two dimensions: \( r = e^{b\theta} \), i.e., in polar coordinates, and leading to the ever present logarithmic spiral of nautilus shells, ammonites, hurricanes, and galaxies, also provides additional metaphors.

• For as stressed before, the positive spiral (right) travels outward seeking infinity, i.e., the unitive 9 or \( e \) itself, yielding \( 1 = 0.999 \cdots \), while the negative spiral (left), \( 6 \), goes inside, travels only a finite length, and gives \( 2/3 = 0.666 \cdots \).

• For “the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, generosity, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control” (Gal 5:22-23). Nine of them, as 9 beatitudes in Matthew. (!!)

• In this spirit, \( r = e^\theta \), i.e., with plus one as internal derivative, further fulfills the “essence of calculus” for such a curve, in a rather beautiful way, always intersects a ray emanating from the origin at exactly 45 degrees, i.e., the very perfect slope of \( X = Y \). (!!)
• As the logarithmic function, \( \ln(x) = \int \frac{1}{x} \, dx \), the natural log, is the inverse of the exponential, one may see that logically it ought to have a negative connotation.

• One may see this explicitly in the passage of the vine and the branches when Jesus said that without Him, even if we try to surrender by ourselves, we could do nothing (Jn 15:5).

• This symbolic meaning for the log becomes particularly relevant, for many complex violent natural processes, such as earthquakes, avalanches and forest fires, are characterized by power-laws in their distributions, \( P[X \geq x] \sim x^{-c} \), that is, negative lines when the axes are changed to logarithmic scales.

• Such “three negatives,” that is, log, log, negative, as symbolic as the three times the apostle Peter denied Jesus (666) before the cock crowed twice (2/3) (!) (Mk 14:66-72), reflect the fact that such destructive processes lack any characteristic scale and reminds us, in the spirit of the class, of the awful consequences of our wrong choices. (!)

• For in perfect metaphoric agreement, the distributions of major man-made calamities, including the wealth inequalities within and across nations, reflected in 2/3 of the population in poverty, and those from conflicts and wars, are power-laws. (!)
• As seen below for wars (after L. E. Cederman, 2003), such are “beautiful fits,” with high coefficients of determination ($R^2$), but incomplete illusions of straightness that in no way resemble the peaceful and immaculate condition of rectitude to which we are all called.

For simply put, power-laws potently symbolize what happens to us, individually and collectively, when we lose track of our inherent scales and misuse and abuse our powers. (!)
• For although the devil in us incite us not to see the wooden beam on our own eye, that is, the negative log (Mt 7:1-5), the “axis of evil” runs through each one of us, and it is our own hand, and not at all an “invisible one,” the one that leads us to the criticality of our power addictions (after Bak, 1996).

• For as the apostle Paul explains, “The love of money is the root of all evils, and some people in their desire for it have strayed from the faith and have pierced themselves with many pains” (1 Tm 6:10), and hence it is up to us mend what is clearly broken so that we may build a just world for all.
• At the end, it all boils down to conversion, as metaphorical as the three times Peter acknowledged his love for the risen Christ, once filled with the Spirit (999) (Jn 21:15-17).

• For “The law of the Lord is perfect, refreshing the soul. The decree of the Lord is trustworthy giving wisdom to the simple” (Ps 19:8), as Jesus breathed His last for us precisely at the 9th hour (Mk 15:34-37). (!)

• For God is not a God of disorder but a God of peace (1 Cor 14:33), for “the kingdom of God is not a matter of food and drink, but of righteousness, peace and joy in the Holy Spirit” (Rom 14:17), for through Jesus, the Prince of Peace (Is 9:5), God gives us a spirit not of cowardice but one of power and love and self-control (2 Tm 1:7).

• For the code of peace explained herein is based on: continued repentance towards the balanced state, i.e., Jesus Christ symbolized by $\sqrt{2}$; complete surrendering to Him so that we may converge to God our Father, i.e., the Origin symbolized by $\pi$; and progressive yielding to the plenitude of Love, i.e., via the Holy Spirit denoted by $e$.

• For this yields $p = 1/2$ in equilibrium, $\alpha \leq 1$ in the root of the Feigenbaum tree, and $z \to 1$ in the bell at infinity, i.e., paz (peace in Spanish). For “There are three that testify, the Spirit, the water and the blood, and the three are of one accord” (1 Jn 5:7-8). (!)
The following quotations further emphasize God’s eternal Invitation and Admonition:

• As summarized by God’s words through the prophet Isaiah, “All you who are thirsty, come to the water!” (Is 55:1), this class, appropriately from a “hydrologist,” represents, at the end, an invitation to the fullness of love. (!)

• For as we fully surrender daily to the water of baptism we also receive the mystical warmth of the living water, the Holy Spirit that accompanies us in our journey (Acts 19:4-6).

• For Jesus, “the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end” (Rv 22:13), in all truth tells us, “To the thirsty I will give a gift from the spring of life-giving water. The victor will inherit these gifts, and I shall be his God, and he will be my son” (Rv 21:6-7).

• As these pages attest, the sought plenitude may only be attained in the positive cross. As such, they remind us that “There is no salvation through anyone else, nor is there any other name under heaven given to the human race by which we are to be saved” (Acts 4:12).

• Hence the ever present call is for us to repent and be baptized, every one of us, in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of our sins; and then we will receive the gift of the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:38), so that, in the fullness of faith, we may fulfill God’s promises.
• For Jesus, suitably crowned with our thorns of complexity (Mt 27:29), says, “Whoever loves me will keep my word, and my Father will love him, and we will come to him and make our dwelling with him” (Jn 14:23) and “Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, then I will enter his house and dine with him, and he with me” (Rv 3:20).

• Clearly, and as repeatedly expressed in these lectures, humility and simplicity are important components in God’s perfect plan for all of us.

• “For it is written: ‘I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and the learning of the learned I will set aside.’ Where is the wise one? Where is the scribe? Where is the debater of this age? Has not God made the wisdom of the world foolish?” (1 Cor 1:19-20).

• “For the wisdom of this world is foolishness in the eyes of God, for it is written: ‘He catches the wise in their own ruses,’ and again ‘The Lord knows the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain’ ” (1 Cor 3:19-20, Jb 5:13, Ps 94:11).

• For “God chose the foolish of the world to shame the wise, and God chose the weak of the world to shame the strong” (1 Cor 1:27), and for “The revelation of God’s words sheds light, gives understanding to the simple” (Ps 119:130). (!)
• For after Jesus told the disciples to rejoice because their names were written in heaven, He Himself “rejoiced in the Holy Spirit and said, ‘I give you praise, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, for although you have hidden these things from the wise and learned you have revealed them to the childlike. Yes Father, such has been your gracious will’ ” (Lk 10:21).

• In this day and age when the unborn children of God are killed in unprecedented numbers, when 6,000 kids die each day due to lack of water, and when immorality is excused based on selfish decisions, it is pertinent to recall that this work also leads us to clear admonitions.

• For, “Lo, the day of the Lord comes, cruel, with wrath and burning anger; to lay waste the land and destroy the sinners within it!” (Is 13:9), “See, the day of the Lord! See, the end is coming! Lawlessness is in full bloom, insolence flourishes, violence has risen to support wickedness” (Ez 7:10), for “Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil, who change darkness into light, and light into darkness” (Is 5:20).

• For as suggested via the ever symbolic fig tree, “Yes, it is near, a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and somberness! Like dawn spreading over the mountains, a people numerous and mighty! Their like has not been from of old, nor will it be after them, even to the years of distant generations” (Jl 2:2).
• Notice how these passages point us naturally to humility via Jesus’ very awesome explanation of the parable of the weeds. For “‘He who sows good seed is the Son of Man, the field is the world, the good seed the children of the kingdom. The weeds are the children of the evil one, and the enemy who sows them is the devil. The harvest is the end of the age, and the harvesters are angels. Just as weeds are collected and burned up with fire, so will it be at the end of the age. The Son of Man will send his angels, and they will collect out of his kingdom all who cause others to sin and all evildoers. They will throw them into the fiery furnace, where there will be wailing and grinding of teeth. Then the righteous will shine like the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Whoever has ears ought to hear’” (Mt 13:36-43).

• For the prophet Isaiah proclaims, “Come near, O nations, and hear; be attentive, O peoples! Let the earth and what fills it listen, the world and all it produces. The Lord is angry with all the nations and is wrathful against all their host; he has doomed them and given them over to slaughter. Their slain shall be cast out, their corpses shall send up a stench; the mountains shall run with their blood, and all the hills shall rot. The heavens shall be rolled up like a scroll, and all their host shall wither away, as the leaf wilts on the vine, or as the fig withers on the tree” (Is 34:1-4).
• For children may recognize the alpha and the Omega, in blue letters on the first quadrant, as a powerful sign in the sky (Lk 21:25) in the recently measured background radiation reflecting the Big Bang, even if the letters are wrongly positioned due to our looking into the past (after NASA):

![Image of the sky with blue and pink colors]

• For in a future world where, “Neither their silver nor their gold shall be able to save them on the day of the Lord’s wrath” (Zep 1:18, Bar 3:17-19, Ez 7:19), it is sobering to realize that all along God has been in control. For it is indeed key to be prepared to answer, “What will you do when the end comes?” (Jer 5:31).
• For the powerful words via the prophet Jeremiah, “Should you not fear me, says the Lord, should you not tremble before me?” (Jer 5:22), shall lead us to fully appreciate other relevant exhortations by prophets: “But the Lord is in his holy temple; silence before him, all the earth!” (Hab 2:20), “Silence in the presence of the Lord God! for near is the day of the Lord, Yes, the Lord has prepared a slaughter feast, he has consecrated his guests” (Zep 1:7), that call us to humble before Him.

• For what God said to the house of Israel very vividly applies to us all, “Can I not do to you, as this potter has done? says the Lord. Indeed like clay in the hand of the potter, so are you in my hand” (Jer 18:6).

• Clearly then, the invitation starts with a plea, “Hear me, O coastlands, listen, O distant peoples” (Is 49:1), i.e., O fractals (!), “Return, rebellious children, says the Lord, for I am your Master” (Jer 3:14), “Return and be converted from your idols; turn yourselves away from all abominations” (Ez 14:6).

• These then must leads us to “love from a pure heart, a good conscience, and a sincere faith” (1 Tm 1:5), through the one who is the first and the last (Is 44:6), the one to whom every knee shall bend and every tongue give praise (Is 45:23, Rom 14:11), the Christ.
• For “everyone will be salted with fire” (Mk 9:49), and hence our love should grow such that we not only hear the word but also fulfill it (Jas 1:22-25), giving ample fruit that may testify to the quality of our work (1 Cor 3:10-15).

• For we, the sons of God, are called to be repairers of the breach (Is 58:12) and hence are called to action by “releasing those bound unjustly, setting free the oppressed, sharing your bread with the hungry, sheltering the oppressed and the homeless, clothing the naked” (Is 58:6-7), which is the essence of true fasting in accordance with God’s will (Is 58:6), and the true fulfillment of our freedom.

• Our call is then no less than accepting the fullness of the invitation, that heals completely our original wound, purifies all our relationships, and leads us to our eternal destination with God, “because love covers a multitude of sins” (1 Pt 4:8).

• For through the cleansing blood of Christ, the blood of the lamb of God, God’s perfect will and love for us is shown (Is 43:4), for it cancels our covenant with death and the nether world (Is 28:18) and leads us to a superior condition of “Salvation and Praise” (Is 60:18) where, by His placing of His law within our hearts (Jer 31:33, Ez 36:26), we are able to find peace.
For as the prophet Isaiah teaches, “There shall be no harm or ruin on all my holy mountain; for the earth shall be filled with knowledge of the Lord, as water covers the sea” (Is 11:9), i.e., on God’s majestic bell at infinity. (!)

For the Lord assures us that “Those who offer praise as a sacrifice honor me; to the obedient I will show the salvation of God” (Ps 50:23).

Why not fully rejoice in our future when the Shepherd Himself shall guide the surviving faithful?

For at that time, “from behind a small voice shall sound in your ears: ‘This is the way; walk in it’, when you would turn to the right or to the left” (Is 30:21), and the Ω point will be fully within grasp.

For “No longer shall the sun be your light by day, nor the brightness of the moon shine upon you at night; The Lord shall be your light forever, your God shall be your glory” (Is 60:19).

Why not shed a tear of joy, that is, a sweet fig, when realizing that the water emanating from God’s temple shall lead to everlasting fruitfulness (Ez 47:1-12). (!)

Why not to extol as “the fig tree puts forth its figs”? (Song 2:13). (!)
• In a day and age when humankind continues trying to avoid God in their lives, when divisions based on selfish misconceptions about race, wealth, gender, and religion abound, the resounding invitation remains: “Seek the Lord, all you humble of the earth, who have observed his law; Seek justice, seek humility; perhaps you may be sheltered on the day of the Lord’s anger” (Zep 2:3), “Come now, let us set things right, says the Lord: though your sins be like scarlet, they may become white as snow; Though they be crimson red, they may become white as wool” (Is 1:18).

• For the Lord says, “This is the one whom I approve: the lowly and afflicted man who trembles at my word” (Is 66:2), the one that “lets justice surge like water, and goodness as an unfailing stream” (Am 5:24), the one who lays his life for his brothers and sisters, as Jesus did (1 Jn 3:16).

• As the Psalmist repeats, we shall “learn to savor how good the Lord is; for happy are those who take refuge in him” (Ps 34:9). We shall fully rejoice in His coming and join the applause before the Lord who comes (Ps 98:8-9), for in the strength of the Holy Spirit we may say to those whose hearts are frightened: “Be strong, fear not! Here is your God, he comes with vindication; With divine recompense he comes to save you” (Is 35:4).
• Together with the apostle Paul, “I kneel before the Father, from whom every family in heaven and on earth is named, that he may grant you in accord with the riches of his glory to be strengthened with power through his Spirit in the inner self, and that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith; that you rooted and grounded in love, may have strength to comprehend with all the holy ones what is the breadth and length and height and depth, and to know the love of Christ that surpasses knowledge, so that you may be filled with all the fullness of God.” (Eph 3:14-19).

• I pray that these lectures may assist you in fully realizing that “The Lord’s word is true” (Ps 33:4), and may help instill in you the critical state of consciousness that shall propel you to joyfully exclaim, “Marana tha,” O Lord, come! (1 Cor 16:22), “Come, Lord Jesus!” (Rv 22:20).

• The message of this class may be summarized by a short story and by yet another poem-song.

• Cheers in Christ and may God bless you. (!)
OR SO WE HAVE BEEN TOLD

A Companion to The Fig Tree and the Bell

With illustrations by my beloved wife Marta Puente and dedicated to my God-given friend Steve Bennett
Not too long ago, life was simple, people had time to dream and take siestas, or so we have been told. Then, people trusted, anxiety did not rule, and leaves did not cover.
Later appeared the snake,
the inwardly rotating spiral, two thirds,
the inventor of pride, who, by cascading his lies,
vastly changed our landscape.
For equilibrium was broken by the mighty winds,
time became fractured and complex,
and unity was shattered into dirt, multi-dust, death,
or so we have been told,
as we may painfully see.
These were sad days, dark days, or so we have been told. For the empty replaced the whole, and the longest, always longest, devilish steps displaced the shortest, and most economic, pathway of brotherhood.
At the appointed time, life arrived to its destiny.

The rose blossomed and her first offspring,
filled with the unitive power of outer love,
offered his ineffable sacrifice,
or so we have been told.
For the ever positive obeyed the voice,
and, by rising, integrated it all,
healing with his grace all dissipation,
and withering with his tenderness all chaos,
or so we have been told,
hence restoring the original song.
These were happy days, amazing days,
or so we have been told.
For the scrolls were correct and the logistics faithful.
For humility do shield, as trusting dynamics,
so very unlikely, take children to O,
rescuing them from wandering forever in high heat.
As history evolved, the warmth of everlasting love and his Spirit were poured into those believing this story, or so we have been told.

These little ones have power over entropy and express their fearless freedom by sharing their pristine waters.
These normal boys and girls are fully filled-up and belong to the stars,
or so we have been told.
Those avoid non-linearities, greed, avalanches, vviolence, turbulence, and anything critical,
for they dream peace and unity.
For they know that treasures are hidden inside the heart, in calling bells, as one crosses the other side of silence, beyond quarks.
These are sad days or happy days, virtual realities or truth, market crashes or jubilees, or so we have been told.

For nature hints it is best to be fit, so that, by conducting the eternal flames, we may leave our primeval caves and find our home in the universe.
O GREAT CONVERGENCE (!)

O great convergence
o saintly design,
the signs announce it
equilibrium is soon back.

O great convergence
o saintly design,
modern science confirms it
equilibrium is soon back.

And let’s talk my friends
of a greater evil,
the many discarded sons
o foolish persecution,
o vain insolence
the one of modern man,
with the same DNA
o incredible disregard;
o clever design, and not by chance,
o bell of mighty love,
evolution with no soul
can not engender reason,
o it is divine, I tell you...

O great convergence
o saintly design,
the signs announce it
equilibrium is soon back.

O great convergence
o saintly design,
modern science confirms it
equilibrium is soon back.
The cosmos o gentleman
reveals its old secrets,
accurate radiations
imply holy beginnings,
o powerful characters
o faithful definition,
in a trace children observe the ever-present winner;
o mysterious exchange, according to His voice,
in heaven and in earth,
for all dusty turbulence
always loses the war,
o learn from it, I tell you...

O great convergence
o saintly design,
the signs announce it
equilibrium is soon back.

As twenty centuries pass
o night and many lessons,
trees lacking godly fruit
chaos for generations,
growing divisive thorns
o disobedient clan,
drifting of the course
not heeding truthful plan;
o eternal sign, fulfilled today,
the fig tree blooms in science,
o improbable enigma
real mercy, not by chance,
o make amends, I tell you...

O great convergence
o saintly design,
the signs announce it
equilibrium is soon back.

O great convergence
o saintly design,
modern science confirms it
equilibrium is soon back.

O come quickly my friend o I tell you listen the earth shall tremble o yes,
o let justice surge as a spring
for if you love, you will also sing well.

O great convergence
o saintly design,
the signs announce it
equilibrium is soon back.

To arrive to your center my friend
you ought to dream now in all truth,
all immensity, all clarity o yes
and all unity growing to the root.
O great convergence
go saintly design,
the signs announce it
equilibrium is soon back.

O do not blame others my friend and return quickly to the route,
for the origin has no substitute.

O understand my friend understand what you are singing is no false trend,
only in balance there is real hope,
and this party, hear me, has no end.

So make amends now
choose what is clear,
obody left behind
we are brothers and sisters.

Make amends now
we are brothers and sisters.

O practice brother a loving trick
o turning always the other cheek.

Make amends now
we are brothers and sisters.

Remain in goodness o faithful pick love one another, come get the kick.

Make amends now
we are brothers and sisters.

O come on sister, o make a click,
laughter endures, o let’s be quick.

So make amends now
choose what is clear,
obody left behind
we are brothers and sisters.

Make amends now
we are brothers and sisters.
